

Service Network

The SAF Service Network is fully operational throughout New Zealand.

Benefits of using the programme, and how to access the network, are explained below:

What is the SAF Service Network?

The SAF Service Network is a unique program designed to save both time and money. It also provides access to high quality service and spare parts to all SAF customers, regardless of their location.

How does this work?

Buying SAF axles and suspensions ensures that equipment lasts the distance. The SAF Service Network exclusively offers customers an added level of service at no extra charge.

The operation of the SAF Service Network is two-fold:

- SAF Service Network - new trailers

All new trailers running SAF axles and suspensions will receive free service checks at 1 month or 5,000km (whatever comes first) and 12 months.

On top of ensuring SAF equipment is running perfectly, each service also concentrates on making sure that the brakes are set up correctly with the truck that pulls the trailer.

- SAF Service Network - parts

In addition to new trailer service checks the SAF Service Network also offer a one-stop SAF shop, supplying spare parts to support the SAF range and eliminating costly trailer down time.

Who are the SAF Service Network?

Transpecs have appointed CablePrice and Truck Stops as their nationwide SAF Service agents.

Comprehensive training has been undertaken to ensure the high quality and uniform stand of service demanded of Transpecs is delivered throughout the country.

What do I have to do?

• SAF Service Network - New Trailers

To receive free service checks, all new trailers should be registered by trailer builders on delivery, alternatively you can register these directly with Transpecs.

Service history will be recorded and Transpecs will ensure that all services are conducted on time.

Where is my closest SAF Service Network agent?

All users of SAF axles and suspensions can enjoy the benefits of a local SAF service and parts agent.

No matter where you operate, there is a Transpecs trained Truck Stops and CablePrice branch to ensure SAF customers receive the same high quality service, regardless of location.
